

Call for Abstracts Now Closed

We would like to invite you to submit an abstract to the 19th International Conference on Biomagnetism that will be held in Halifax, Canada from August 24th through to August 28th, 2014.

As is traditional with BioMag meetings, the scientific programme will include technological, methodological and high-level fundamental research in MEG and other biomagnetism fields. We also have some specific aims for this scientific program, which include highlighting the new and emerging techniques in biomagnetism and the latest approaches to the analyses of these complex signals, and catalyzing the development of clinical applications in the field. To highlight recent developments, some of the submitted abstracts will be selected to be presented as short oral presentations in a 'Hot Topics' session.

The deadline for abstract submissions has passed. Thank you for your submissions.

The Conference Registration is now also open. To register, please click here.
